Millions of rare books just a mouse click away

European libraries are hosting millions of rare books published between 1500 and 1900. These books represent a universe of knowledge: accounts of a journey to Africa from the 18th century, science fiction novels from the late 19th century or old cooking books – libraries own the historical knowledge of mankind.

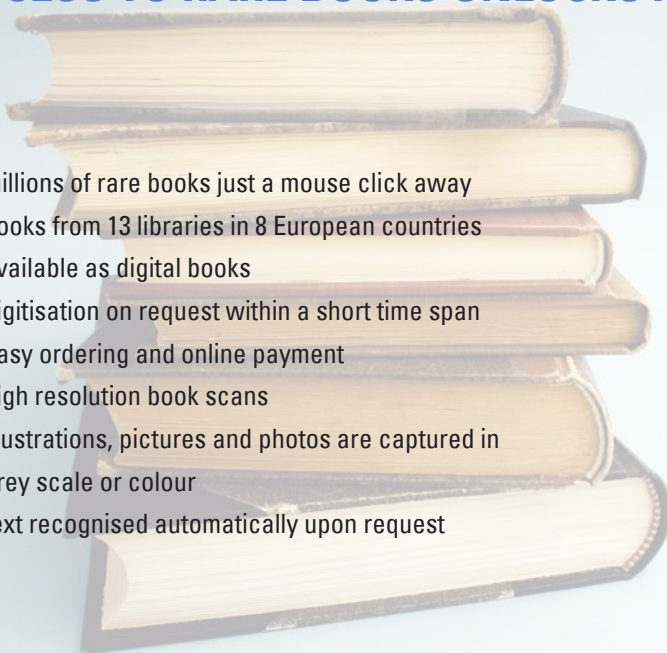

But until now access to these books was, in most cases, highly restricted and readers often had to travel to the library in order to read the book.

Therefore only researchers and a small minority of ordinary readers were actually able to use the rare book collections of libraries.

With the eBooks on Demand (EOD) service this situation changes dramatically. Millions of rare books are just a mouse click away - for both researchers and any interested parties.

FROM BOOKS TO eBooks

European libraries

Millions of rare books published between 1500 and 1900 are hosted in European libraries.

EOD

With eBooks on Demand these treasures will be unlocked and made available in electronic form upon request.

eBook

An eBook from EOD is a professional digital version of a book delivered in one single PDF file.

EUROPE-WIDE NETWORK

eBooks on Demand (EOD) is a Europe-wide network of libraries aiming to digitise rare books. This service is already available in 13 libraries in 8 countries: Portugal, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Slovenia, Slovakia, Hungary and Estonia. We envision that, in a few years, every historical European book will be available as an eBook on Demand.

Why should your library also participate?

- ➔ add an exciting service to your portfolio and fulfill the needs of your users
- ➔ make all books from 1500 to 1900 available as eBooks, upon a user's request and for a moderate fee
- ➔ continually increase your digital assets and build up your digital library or repository
- ➔ minimal requirements: a book scanner and an Internet connection

Become part of a distinctive network and benefit from all the structures, experience and business solutions found within the EOD partners!
